

Acknowledgments

A tip of the hat and heartfelt Thank you goes out to Ivan Rogers for his kind encouragement and assistance in reviewing this manuscript and offering valuable counsel in the development of the story. I am grateful to Ivan also for granting permission to use excerpts from his excellent book, Dropping Hell and Embracing Grace, available from Amazon.com, paperback or Kindle.

A big Thank you also goes to my long-time friend and brother in Christ, Ed Edman, Associate Professor of Studio and Digital Arts, Liberty University, for his kind assistance, particularly on issues of typography and graphic design.

Thanks to Mike Rough who sat up all night proofreading the final manuscript and for his kind guidance and counsel as I continue to grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior.

This work never could have been completed without the patience, assistance and encouragement of my beloved Betty Lou, helpmeet of sixty-two years. To her, I owe a deep debt of love and gratitude and a fine meal at our favorite restaurant.

Finally, to our Lord and our God, who has been the inspiration for me to write Living at the Foot of the Cross, I say Thank you for this honor and privilege. It seems to this humble soul that there are many who could have done a much better job, but perhaps none who had so much to learn in the process. If there be any praise, if there be any glory, may it all go to Him.

Author's note: On the day my first copies of Living at the Foot of the Cross arrived from the printer, I learned of the passing of my friend, Ivan Rogers. He never got to see the final product. Ivan's contributions and encouragement were invaluable to me throughout the writing of this book; I am forever grateful to him for his kind assistance and loving friendship.
